Fireman Killed, 2 Missing In Vancouver Fire

Few Hopes Left As Trapped Men Fall 2 Floors

VANCOUVER (CP)—One fireman lost his life and other firemen prodded among the ruins of the Pioneer Envelopes Company plant today searching for traces of two of their crew who were trapped while fighting a three-alarm fire which destroyed the building.

Thirteen other firefighters were injured in the blaze, which broke out in the five-story plant at 6.50 this morning. Damage to the building and contents is estimated at $300,000.

The man has been identified as Capt. E. W. Barnett, 50, of the Vancouver Fire Department. Those missing are: Reg. Hill and Jim Hunt, both of Vancouver. Little hope is held that they may be found alive.

Cause of the fire, which ate its way through the big building in a matter of minutes, has not been determined, said Chief E. L. Erratt of the Vancouver Fire Department.

Fog Hides Flames Till Blaze Spreads

An early morning fog which filled the downtown streets may have obscured the tell-tale flames and smoke, allowing the blaze to make good headway.

Two hours after the fire had been discovered, the second and third floors of the building collapsed with a roar like thunder. It was at this time that the two missing firemen were caught inside the structure. It is believed they fell two stories under tons of debris, which included heavy printing machinery.

Of the chance for life shared by Hill and Hunt, Fireman John Blackburn had this to say after he was taken to hospital with injuries suffered when he was struck by falling timbers: "I was in the front part of the building when I had a feeling the roof was going to cave in. . . . There was no explosion that I know of, but when I saw a 'bad accident' was going to happen I started to move. . . . I am afraid two of our men were killed after I left."

Seek To Learn Cause Of Captain's Death

It was not known how Capt. Barnett died. He was found lying on the roof of the neigh-

Canadians Expect to Get Chance To Pass On Nazi War Criminals

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian officials concerned with war crimes against Canadian servicemen today were studying the possible effect of instructions published Thursday in War Orders and Regulations governing the custody, trial and punishment of persons suspected of war crimes.

A reasonable interpretation of the regulations, and earlier statements on Canadian participation in war crimes trials, would indicate the Canadian services will get a chance to judge and punish German and Japanese offenders against Canadian prisoners of war.

The regulations just published say a person convicted of such a crime may be sentenced to death by shooting or hanging, imprisoned for life, or given any lesser punishment.

The principal case likely to come up at the Canadian war crimes trials probably will be that arising from the murder of 19 Canadian prisoners of war by German S.S. troops in the Normandy beachhead in June, 1944.

The atrocity was committed June 8, 1944, when 19 members of the Royal Winnipeg Rifles who had been taken prisoner were murdered by troops of the 12th S.S. Hitler Jugend Division near Pavle, Normandy. This was the finding of a military court of inquiry announced by Gen. Crerar, then Canadian commander Aug. 2, 1944.

MILITARY COURT

London reports already have said this case probably will be included as evidence in any general indictment of S.S. men before the International War Crimes Tribunal. It is thought likely the tribunal will turn this specific case over to the Canadian Army to deal with in a military court which the army would convene for the purpose.

The Canadian government already has a thick dossier on this case and it is one of the most complete to be made up on a single battle zone war crime. In presenting the findings of the court of inquiry, Gen. Crerar said: "There is no shadow of doubt as to its authenticity."

It was considered possible cases might also arise from the mistreatment of Canadians by the Japanese in the Far East.

MacArthur Cracks Down On Japan Tells Critics Why He Took Time

TOKYO (AP)—There will be no "kid glove" enforcement of surrender terms on Japan, Gen. MacArthur promised today in a statement replying to critics of policies pursued thus far.

Simultaneously he ordered complete suspension of activities of the Domei agency, heretofore Japan's greatest propaganda outlet.

The Allied Supreme Commander, noting impatience at the so-called "soft" approach to the occupation of Japan, issued a lengthy statement explaining its position and declaring:

"It is extraordinarily difficult for me at times to exercise that degree of patience which is unquestionably demanded if the long-time policies which have been decreed are to be successfully accomplished without repercussions which would be detrimental to the well-being of the world, but I am restraining myself to the best of my ability and I am generally satisfied with the progress being made."

The Supreme Commander observed that, in view of the "atrocities committed by the enemy," impatience on the part of the Allied peoples to have the surrender terms rapidly carried out was but a natural impulse.

Fulfillment of that desire can be accomplished only through careful procedure, he said, and promised: "The surrender terms aren't soft and they won't be applied in kid glove fashion."

Most of Hunted Japs Arrested

Meanwhile, the Japanese government reported to U.S. 8th Army headquarters that most of the former Nipponese leaders on Gen. MacArthur's "wanted" list were in custody.

Another former government official, Lt. Gen. Chikahiko Kozumi, Welfare Minister in the Japanese "Pearl Harbor cabinet," took his life by the traditional hara-kiri method. The former Premier, Gen. Hideki Tojo, continued to improve in a U.S. army hospital from his self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Kozumi was on the list of more than 40 former war leaders, Black Dragon Society members and brutal prison commanders and guards whom the Japanese undertook to round up.

Supreme Headquarters gave no reason for suspension of Domei, and the order came without warning.

In his statement regarding the occupation, Gen. MacArthur explained that the "paramount consideration" of evacuating former prisoners of war and internees, plus the necessity of getting occupation troops into position without the precipitation of "calamity" prompted the methods taken.

Full Security Must Be Assured

The demobilization of Japan, withdrawal of prisoners and placing of occupation troops, he said would be complete by the middle of October, but "during this interval of time, safety and complete security must be assured."

The ceremonial self-destruction of another Japanese militarist, Gen. Teichi Yoshimoto—not on Gen. MacArthur's list—was reported. He slashed his stomach in hara-kiri fashion with a sword and fired a pistol shot into his head. He formerly commanded the northeast Japan army district.

Japs to Learn Atrocities Details

YOKOHAMA (AP) — Gen. MacArthur directed today that the stark facts of Japanese atrocities, committed all the way from the Philippines to New Guinea—and back again—be told in full to the Japanese people.

Representatives of Japanese newspapers agreed, at the suggestion of the Supreme Allied Commander, to publish a summary of the atrocity reports as the start of a program to "educate the Japanese people in the acts of their military."

A few twisted steel rods are all that remain of the tower which supported the first atomic bomb when it was tested near Alamogordo, N.M. Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, right, chief of the Manhattan engineering district, and Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, director of the Los Alamos bomb project and physicist at the California Institute of Technology, view the devastation. Site is open to newsmen for the first time.

10 Freed Hongkong Prisoners First Group, Arrive On B.C. Coast

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence headquarters announced that 10 soldiers of the Canadian army freed from Japanese prison camps, were scheduled to arrive at Vancouver today, the first liberated prisoners from Canada's ill-fated Hongkong garrison to reach their homeland since their capture of Christmas Day, 1941.

Headquarters said the men had been transported from the Far East to a United States Pacific coast point and would reach Vancouver by train. It identified eight of them, but said identity of the other two could not immediately be learned.

In Vancouver the men will be fully outfitted with clothing as required and will be medically examined. If found fit they will be immediately dispatched to their homes with 42 days' leave plus traveling time.

Following is the list of eight of the 10 repatriates as identified by Defence Headquarters:

Says British Plan Brazil, Insolent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Roy Woodruff (Rep., Mich.) said today what he termed British proposals for a long-term, interest-free loan were "brazen and insolent."

Mr. Woodruff told the House of Representatives that Lord Keynes, British economist now in Washington discussing monetary arrangements with the U.S., "insults the intelligence of the American people" by proposing such a loan.

"British-U.S. monetary" discussions have not yet reached the stage where proposals have been made.

Unrest In Germany As Winter Nears

By JAMES F. KING
FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, Germany (AP)—Faint signs of unrest, bred on fears of cold and hunger this winter, were reported developing in some sections of Germany today, but Allied army officers charged with keeping order say there has been no indication of any organized underground movement.

Operating in bands of 10 to 30, displaced persons awaiting repatriation have been especially active in the Bremen area, raiding farms and slaughtering hundreds of cattle.

One rumor reported making the rounds in Munich was that the food shortage was caused by butter and cheese being sent to France, and that "Germans are being purposely starved." According to this rumor, "rich milk purposely is allowed to sour and then is fed to the pigs."

While occupation officials are making preparations for possible food riots this winter, the chances for any underground—if one exists—to emerge are held slight.

War-weary German civilians, generally speaking, are being counted on to quell disturbances. In the nearby town of Schierstein, girls became especially friendly with Allied troops, who later moved. The girls told soldiers on occasional return visits there that two discharged German prisoners of war who lived in the town had threatened them after the Allies had left, but that civilians had chased both of them out of town.

James D. Manby.

Windsor to Visit England, Duchess To See France

NEW YORK (CP)—The Duke of Windsor revealed at a press conference today he would visit England early next month, but that he would not be accompanied by the Duchess "on the first trip."

Speaking at a conference he called to keep his "promise" to newspapers that he would see reporters any time he had news to make public, the Duke said he and the Duchess would sail today aboard the troopship Argentina for Plymouth and Le Havre. The ship would not dock at Plymouth, the Duke said, and after their arrival in France the Duke and Duchess would go to Paris and later to Antibes on the Riviera. Later he would go to England.

Someone asked the Duke if he would see Queen Mary while in England and he replied with feeling:

"Oh, yes, indeed. I'm looking forward to seeing my mother. I haven't seen her for nearly nine years."

The couple will live in France until they learn when they will go to England. In reply to another question the Duke said "Yes, I should" when asked if he would like to make his home in England.

WANTS A POST

Plans for the future were not definite, the Duke said, though he had in mind "several jobs" he would like. "Though I've passed the half-century mark I still feel I have some years of usefulness left," he said, but he declined to elaborate on what he had in mind.

The visit to Paris and London involves "personal business," the Duke said, adding that he would visit bomb-damaged British cities and later some of those in European countries.

The Duke was asked how he had been "amusing" himself since he last saw the press, and he recalled that he had served as governor of the Bahamas for nearly five years, and felt he had made some contribution to the welfare of the people there. He was careful to avoid any reference to politics, and declined to comment on the election to power of the labor government in Britain.

"It has been a tradition in my country for my family to take no part in politics," he said, "and I have always had to keep my views and ideas to myself. I might say that if I had not, I might have found myself in trouble."

The only reason he hadn't visited his Canadian ranch at High River, Alta., was that the government had appealed to the public to remain at home.

Coalition Names Carson at Kamloops

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Robert H. Carson was nominated here Thursday night as Coalition candidate for Kamloops in the Oct. 25 provincial general election. He was a Coalition Liberal Member of the last Legislature. Provincial Secretary Pearson told a public meeting following the nominating convention that British Columbia enjoys the highest standard of living in the world and that he could see no reason why the people should try an experiment in socialism.

Mr. Carson is the third candidate to be nominated to run in Kamloops. Mayor George R. Williams of Kamloops is the C.C.F. nominee and C. S. Cook the Labor Progressive standard bearer.

Dieppe Veteran Named Candidate

KEREMEOS, B.C. (CP)—Dr. Reginald Laird was selected at a nominating convention here Thursday night as Coalition candidate in the coming provincial election. Dr. Laird is a veteran of the Second World War, a hero of Dieppe. He was aboard the first boat to hit the beach in that historic raid and was wounded in the leg, hip and shoulders. He was attached to the Royal Regiment of Canada as an assault surgeon, and held the rank of major.

After being wounded he was taken prisoner by the Nazis and his leg was amputated in a German hospital. After 14 months in various German prison camps he was repatriated in the fall of 1943.

Money By-law For Improved Water Distribution Hinted

Hints of another possible money by-law to be presented to the voters at the December civic elections were given by Ald. J. A. Worthington, chairman of the water board, today.

The other probable money by-law is for an extra $50,000 for the Memorial Arena, for which architect's plans are expected to be completed within the next few days.

F. C. Stewart, Vancouver consulting engineer, has now collected all the data needed for his report on Victoria's water system and there is a distinct possibility that the installation of new mains, as well as the construction of a rock tunnel through Sooke Mountain, to get more water down to the city more quickly may be necessary.

Ald. Worthington said he could not hazard a guess as to what this might cost until Mr. Stewart's report is submitted to the water board. After the board considers the report it will be placed before the council, meeting in committee of the whole, together with the board's recommendations.

Mr. Stewart was in the city four days, and during that time he compiled a number of records on pressure points throughout the area, as well as studying the whole water distribution system to see where the fault lies and determine what must be done to guarantee adequate pressure to all consumers throughout the year.

It is expected that his report will be ready before the end of October.

Says Ethics Can Prevent Strife

The solution to internal strife in Canada which might result now the war had ended was the proper ethical approach to buyer-seller, competitor and employer-employee relationships, said F. S. Cunliffe in an address to members of the Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting in Empress Hotel Thursday.

The subject of Mr. Cunliffe's address was "How can vocational service be made more attractive?"

At Nanaimo Rotary, he said, a vocational service committee had been formed and members presented questions on ethics to be discussed.

Some of the questions of ethics in buyer-seller relationships asked at the committee meetings were related by Mr. Cunliffe. Questions were asked as to whether or not it was ethical to change contract conditions in a sale when circumstances of the buyer had changed, and whether or not it was ethical to play one competitor against another to secure a product at a low cost.

Questions on ethics were asked in regard to matter put in by a seller in advertising, and whether or not a merchant was justified in selling under cost. Discussion was given to the question of an employer soliciting the services of an employee of another employer.

The committee also dealt with the question as to whether or not there was an obligation on the part of an employer to promote an employee when the position vacated by the employee was difficult to fill.

Victoria Rotary would find a most interesting program in discussing similar questions, Mr. Cunliffe suggested. The question of ethics was the very basis of Rotary membership, he said. There could be a difference between the legality and rightness of a thing, Mr. Cunliffe believed, but added he did not mean that legality was wrong.

M.P. Urges End Of Registration Cards

OTTAWA (CP)—Park Mans-ross, P.C., London, making his maiden speech, said a snicker through the Commons Thursday night when he said he did not believe use of national registration cards should be continued just so governments could carry on their liquor administration.

"I think the purpose of registration cards is over," he said. "Of course various governments are still using the back of them, and I will soon have to get a new one. But I don't think we should have to carry around a dog tag just so governments can carry on their liquor administration. They have ration cards for that purpose."

He did not believe the taxpayers' money should be spent any longer in maintaining the registration card system, which had been involved to keep a tag on manpower.

"It didn't work because it would have taken a lot of courage to make it work, and the government did not have that courage," he said.

He urged that the government abolish the $2.50 annual radio fee.

100 Fish Boats Were Stormbound On West Coast

Nearly 100 tuna and salmon fishing vessels were stormbound for three days when a southeast gale drove them to shelter at Bamfield, A. E. Carr, manager of Kyuquot Trollers Co-Operative Association, reported today.

The vessels have now left port and are again fishing. However, few of the vessels which left the tuna fishing grounds in the teeth of the gale, have returned there. The tuna fishing season is just about over, Mr. Carr said, and the vessels out tuna fishing are making no catches.

Most were returning to salmon fishing for the rest of the season, but will return to the more lucrative tuna fishing as soon as that season opens again next year.

Why breeders feed Gro-Pup

BREEDERS KNOW it is not safe to try to raise dogs on "junk scraps" alone. Dogs must have a properly balanced diet that gives them everything they need for strong bones, sound teeth, and a beautiful coat. That's why breeders feed Gro-Pup.

IT'S A PROPERLY BALANCED DIET to keep dogs of all ages, sizes and breeds at their natural best. It is easily digestible. It contains every vitamin and mineral

TWO MORE CONTESTS

BEFORE AND JUST AFTER THE 140TH anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar the peoples of British Columbia, Manitoba and Nova Scotia will fight it out at the polls. The issue involved in this province is too well understood to require further discussion at this stage. The conflict will be one mainly between the Coalitionists supporting the Hart-Maitland government and the Socialists under the leadership of Mr. Harold Winch. It will take place after the elections of the Prairie and Maritime provinces have rendered their verdicts.

Since the last general election in Manitoba in 1941 much has happened politically in that province. The man who had been Premier for two decades, Mr. John Bracken, became the national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party two and a half years ago and won a seat in the House of Commons last June 11. Under his successor in the Legislature, Hon. Stuart Garson, the government party was also Coalitionist, 24 Liberal Progressives having the support of 13 Conservatives, five Independents and three Social Crediters; the Opposition was composed of five members of the C.C.F., one Independent and one Workers' Party, with one vacancy as of the beginning of this year. Or out of a total membership of 55, the government could count 45.

The 21st Legislature of Manitoba was more than four years old at dissolution. It came into being when all the organized political parties in the province had joined the Coalition under Mr. Bracken's leadership. In the intervening period, however, not only did the former Premier take his departure for the national scene; the C.C.F. Coalitionists ended their alignment and went into the small opposition—admonishing two of its adherents for independent conduct which is considered repugnant to and subversive of the principles of party management and direction that are part and parcel of the philosophy of their much-vaunted "planned economy." Next month, however, the people of the great prairie province will have an opportunity of passing judgment on Mr. Garson's leadership and policies.

Nova Scotia's contest, incidentally, will be under new government leadership—that of Hon. Angus Macdonald, a former Premier of the province and until recently federal Minister of National Defence for Naval Services. In the general election of Oct. 28, 1941, in that province, the Liberal Party elected 23 out of a total membership in the Legislature of 30—or one more than it returned in the contest in 1937. The standing at dissolution was: 22 Liberals, four Conservatives, three C.C.F., with one vacancy. To what extent, if any, the Nova Scotians have changed their political allegiance in the last four years will be known when the votes have been counted next October 23. The results of the last two elections should encourage Premier Macdonald to expect victory.

PLAIN TALK

ELECTED AS AN INDEPENDENT FOR Bonaventure in the federal election last June 11, Mr. Bona Arsenault, former president of the Progressive Conservative Association in Quebec, announced in the House of Commons on Wednesday that he would henceforward throw his support to the government of Mr. Mackenzie King. He explained his reasons in part as follows:

"For many years a certain element in the Conservative Party could not find any better solution for some of our most crucial problems than to play one part of the country against the other, than to stir up and spread prejudices against one-third of the population of our country, and to capitalize week after week, month after month upon the resentment they themselves helped to develop in certain sections of Canada against the province of Quebec."

As an example, the member for Bonaventure cited the maiden speech of Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., who had said on Tuesday that if a man in the army could not speak English and wished to obtain his discharge, all he had to do was to go to the sergeant-major and say: "Me no speak de English." Mr. Arsenault felt sure that the representative for Nanaimo "knew better than that . . . but he is keeping in straight line with the Progressive Conservative way of playing ball."

Instead of wasting the time of the House in repeating his election campaign arguments about what he now calls Canada's "bi-focal army system," General Pearkes might take a leaf out of the book of Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., Vancouver-Burrard's Progressive Conservative member. He offered his advice to ministers "humbly as a new member and as a young man." But the gallant soldier from the mainland city gave the government credit for its good administration. Nor is it likely that Mr. Mackenzie King will offer the least objection to Colonel Merritt's suggestion that the administration take the public into its confidence and tell the people what it is necessary to do and how and when to do it.

AQUA PURA

DURING THE LAST WEEK OR SO WE have received an average of five or six letters a day on the subject of chlorination. Some of them would have occupied at least a column of space; others have run from 400 to 600 words apiece. Those favoring continuation of the present policy were slightly in the minority. But all of them were written by laymen, most of whom, incidentally, are supremely confident of the validity of their arguments.

Fortunately or unfortunately, we belong to that non-expert stratum of local society which clings to the idea that scientific progress has taught all of us a good deal which we never knew before—the product of life-long study. The lessons learned have profited humanity to an incalculable degree—especially in regard to the protection of the public health. And we may not be guilty of oversimplification, if we say that not one in a thousand laymen has the faintest idea of how the various phenomena have been produced. The peoples of the world have merely taken advantage of them, benefited by their application, leaving the rest in the scientific realm to which they belong. If the "jack of all trades" feels inclined to delve into their mysteries, well and good; for our part, however, we prefer to emulate the shoemaker and stick to our last. We find it pays better in the long run.

This should not be taken to mean that we advocate a nation of Canadians with more or less closed minds. Our point is to emphasize the idea that, for example, in a discussion of the merits or demerits of chlorination, the opinion of the expert who knows his subject is entitled to more consideration than, say, the layman who tells us that people from all over this continent come to Victoria because of our "crystal-clear" drinking water. If we say that such an argument is pure bunkum, we shall be merely thinking out loud; if we say that thousands of new people are in Victoria at the moment, we may not be far wide of the mark if we suggest they are here to "have a bit on" at the Willows. Whether our visitors—who, by the way, are always welcome—will object to the water they use, either in its existing state or compounded with a more potent element, is a subject on which our innocence forbids speculation.

All this notwithstanding, we are gratified to learn that city aldermen and officials of the Anti-Chlorination League are about to visit the watershed whence the city draws its supply; but even this new development in the controversy leaves us utterly cold. Neither the intangible adornment of a civic mantle, nor the executive authority of any other body will of itself produce an alchemy calculated to transform a layman into an expert overnight. Our money remains on the medical men who tell us, if not in as many words, that it is much better to be safe than sorry.

MEAT AND RUMORS

PROGRESS NOTE ON THE SUBJECT of meat rationing: A Toronto dispatch reported that the Ontario Livestock Exchange members had said the Canadian Meat Board could not handle any further shipments of beef until the end of this month. Mr. L. W. Pearsall, manager of the Canadian Meat Board, replied that the statement was "incorrect and without any foundation in fact," and added: "We are open to accept all offerings of beef, lamb and mutton at any time . . . we are looking for meat to buy; we are not turning it away."

The Toronto dispatch, incidentally, declared the Livestock Exchange members had charged that meat stores were full to capacity, that no more could be handled by the Prices Board and that, as a result, "meat in large quantities was going rotten."

When the officials of the Prices Board meet the representatives of the retailers in Ottawa next week it is hoped that all the facts of the present situation surrounding the rationing of meat will be revealed to the public. Some plain talking obviously is necessary.

STEEL PROSPECTS

THE STEEL INDUSTRY OF THE DOMINION witnessed a remarkable growth during the war. The productive capacity of pig iron in 1939 was 1,500,000 tons. At present the annual capacity is 2,771,000 tons, or an increase of 85 per cent. Production amounted to 1,853,000 tons in 1944 or 69 per cent of rated capacity. This compares with 846,000 tons in 1939.

The greatest development has occurred in the output of steel alloys. Whereas, in 1939, the output amounted to 57,583 tons, it amounted to 357,000 tons in 1944 and, when peak production was reached in 1943, it amounted to nearly 412,000 tons. Production of ferro-alloys has more than doubled during the last five years. Production aggregated 182,428 tons in 1944 as compared with 85,540 tons in 1939.

In addition to the already increased productive capacity, the steel industry is making plans for further expansion. The demand for all kinds of steel and iron products will be large in the period of peace ahead. Furthermore, it is realized that it will be several years before the steel and iron industries of the European countries can be rehabilitated. In the meantime, the demand will have to be met from production in Canada and the United States. These two countries will also be called upon to meet the increased demand for steel and iron from the Far East as well as from Latin America.

The outlook for alloys, particularly, is very good. Because of her huge production of electric power, Canada is in a favorable position to produce this product at a relatively low cost.

OUR CONSCIENCE IS EASY

THE Most Reverend Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, says that the atomic bomb has shocked "not only Christian conscience but every conscience is afraid and ashamed." I must confess I have observed no such phenomena among the consciences around here. People are afraid of atoms all right, but not ashamed.

When the first atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima the reaction, in these parts anyway, was one of sheer delight. No one was distressed in the least that a single flash had killed 100,000 people and wounded and ruined a great many more. In fact, any man who had suggested that it is a serious thing, and a nice question of morality, to kill 100,000 non-combatants, including women and children, would have been suspected of treason. Yet it is a serious thing and if the bomb had been dropped on us we would probably realize how serious it is.

The atomic bomb, in fact, makes all human disputes and all political arguments of the past appear pretty pallid, for in their place it poses the question whether humanity itself and any political system can survive upon this earth.

THIS would appear at first to be a military and scientific question of great complexity. Actually it is the simplest and oldest question in the world and is quite outside the range of the scientists. For it is a question of simple morality, of right and wrong. The question, in fact, is whether the human family has enough morality, and knows enough about right and wrong, to avoid the use of the atomic bomb and its own suicide.

On this point there is no assurance yet but the first reactions to the bomb are not encouraging. Without doubt there was good reason to use the bomb, and the Japanese war quickly and save many brave men's lives. The question of morality does not arise so much in the decision to use the bomb as in the public attitude afterwards. You would have expected most human beings to agree that the deed must be done but to regret the necessity—to realize that it is never a nice or pleasant thing to blot out a hundred thousand other human beings, of any race or color, many of whom had nothing to do with starting the war. But at least among my friends and associates, there appeared to be no such feeling. The question of morality was hardly considered.

THIS is not surprising since morality is a going quite out of fashion in public affairs, replaced by the theory that man is purely an economic animal. Hardly any practical politician today dares to argue for policy because it is morally right or against another policy because it is morally wrong. He has to find some other reason if he wants to be heard. He has to prove that his policy is economically sound, that his opponent's policy won't pay in cash.

For example, it does not suffice now to say that we must feed the people of Europe, even our enemies, because it would be a moral crime to let them starve. One must side-step such weak and queasy argument and prove that it will be good business for us and our future trade to keep these people alive as potential customers. And here in Canada it should be sufficient to say that we cannot repatriate all our Canadian-born Japanese to Japan because that, too, would be a human crime; but in practical politics it is necessary to dodge this simple proposition and argue the case on every other basis.

THE atomic bomb suddenly shatters this whole theory that public affairs, unlike private affairs, have nothing to do with morals and should be kept clear of them. For obviously mere fear of the bomb will not prevent its use in another war. On the contrary, fear of the bomb from some enemy country will force everybody to try to use it first. The only force that will control it in the end will be the morality of the human race and if that morality is not sufficient to curb such a crime then the human race probably isn't worth saving anyway. But if we, the Christian nations, are unable to understand the moral question involved here we need not expect the non-Christian nations, which are the majority of the human family, to understand it.

If it is not understood in the end, if morality is not seen to be the only practical basis for politics, fortunately that will not be the end of all life, as some people seem to expect. Dr. Henry Norris Russell, the eminent American astronomer, assures us that there are millions of planets which probably contain life, and when ours is blown up, life may continue there for a long time, if it is not so clever as we are.

SHE DID IT BEFORE

AT THE general election in England in 1710 270 members lost their seats. In the new Parliament the Whigs were not a third of the House of Commons. "Thus was ended by the will of the electorate the ever-famous administration of Marlborough and Godolphin, which for eight years had led the league of European nations against the exorbitant power of France, which had made the British Island one united kingdom, and had raised Great Britain from despondency and weakness to the summit of world affairs." Extract from Marlborough, his Life and Times, by Winston Churchill.

She did it before and has done it again! She did it against the French King Louis XIV whose political slogan in 1707 "L'etat c'est moi!" led France to defeat, and in 1815 she did it against Napoleon. In 1848 she repealed the Corn Laws and started free trade, and today her Labor ministers are appealing to the nation to face the problem of reconstruction by sacrifice and hard work.

Letters To The Editor

OUR WATER AGAIN

The people of Victoria deserve some explanation as to why nothing is done in regard to their letters of protest against the continued use of chlorine in their water.

True, chlorination of Victoria's water was forced on the people against their wishes. Further, it was undemocratic from choice of ballot; four to one disapproved of its qualification.

Despite this proof, Victoria's water was justly chlorinated. In time of war the Department of National Defence has the power to enact or revoke any law they deem necessary to safeguard the people. They should be complimented on the prompt action taken to prevent contamination when the water system was so vulnerable.

Now that this danger is past, and because it was strictly a war measure, this restriction should be lifted to comply with the democratic wishes of the people. The City Council should demand that the Department of National Defence remove the chlorine from its water. If this is not complied with in a given time, action should be taken through the civil courts for its removal. For, according to the democratic constitution, majority rule and the law, automatically becomes its protector.

OUR WILD LIFE

Once again the hunting season is with us, and the slaughter of the defenceless denizens of the wild proceeds with unabated fury. Surely the world has seen enough killing during the past six years to satisfy the most bloodthirsty! Or is the promotion and encouragement of hunting the means whereby the just to kill is kept alive to prepare us for the next war, which will, without doubt, be the end of our so-called civilization.

At this time of year, when our countryside is at its best and brightest, many of our citizens, driving into the country to enjoy its beauty, have had their pleasure spoiled by the frequent sight of cars returning from the hunt, their fenders draped with the carcasses of deer. Just to make sure nobody misses this spectacle, the press from time to time publishes photographs of the mighty hunters and their defenceless prey.

The great argument advanced in defence of this alleged sport is that the deer and other game create havoc with the farmer's crops. If such be the case, then the farmer should definitely be allowed to protect his property from damage; but this yearly wholesale slaughter of our wild creatures should be stopped. The time is ripe for the establishment of an association to protect our wild life.

Yours truly,
JAMES BARR.

MR. WINCH FOOLS NONE

Out of sheer curiosity I listened Monday evening to a radio talk by Mr. H. Winch, and I must admit I was never so disgusted in my life with such statements. In the first instance Mr. Winch stated that the present government is denying citizens their votes and as a last resort had opened his registration offices. But he said these offices were not yet opened as the government had just called its agents to a conference that would in all probability last three days—after which time there would be little opportunity to register.

Does Mr. Winch think Victorians have no intelligence? Methinks most of them have considerably more than he—and would register long before he thought the offices were open. As a matter of fact I, myself, registered last Tuesday morning, Sept. 4—where has Mr. Winch been the last couple of weeks? If a person is interested enough in the welfare of his municipality, city or province, he will make a point of getting on the voters' list which, after all, does not entail much effort.

Regarding the "no jobs" cry, surely Mr. Winch is not trying to win a seat in the coming election on that score. How many workers in wartime jobs will tell you, and have told you, that they were never so well paid and did so little for it. Many will admit they have been spoiled but they have sense enough to know high wages cannot continue. The higher the wages, the higher the cost of living, and methinks, Mr. Winch, you would be the first to complain. There are jobs available for those who want them but not the kind we all would like—and there never will be, not even under a government you would like to lead. Why not devote your next radio talk to constructive ideas and tell the public how you plan to solve these many problems? Your party is quick to condemn, but slow to give us the solution. Think it over, Mr. Winch.

(Mrs.) JOAN BENNETT.

THE INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst.

The Balkan political troubles have, as was to be expected, descended like a plague of locusts on the London conference of the Big Five Foreign Ministers who have been trying to frame a peace treaty for Italy as a first step in European readjustment.

It was too much to hope Italy's case could be handled without intrusion of the Balkan difficulties, which have given rise to sharp differences of opinion among the Big Three—between the Russians on the one hand and the Anglo-American Allies on the other. Apart from other considerations, peace treaties also have to be drawn up for Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary, as Axis satellites.

Speaking in very general terms, the Balkan political upheavals are the result of the sweep of the leftist tide across Europe.

Then there is another far-reaching issue involved, Russia and Britain are up against the question of who's who in the Balkans—that is, whose sphere of influence southeastern Europe is in.

Taking it all in all, it looks as though the Big Three were on the verge of a vastly important showdown.

One of the significant developments of this situation is that the remaining Balkan thrones are shaking like jellies, and the royalists are rushing to the rescue. The position of young King Michael of Romania has suddenly become precarious and there's speculation whether he will be able to avoid abdication.

Equally youthful King Peter of Yugoslavia is hammering at the door of the Foreign Ministers' RAINCOATS FROM BALLOONS

Many hundreds of barrage balloons, used in the defence of London and other cities in Britain, have been placed by the British government at the disposal of industry. Raincoats, rubber aprons and various household goods are now being manufactured from the "demobilized elephants" which have been protecting vital targets from Nazi bombers.

Afternoon Wedding At Metropolitan

In the Metropolitan United Church, before an altar banked with tall baskets of pink and white gladioli and ferns, Rev. A. E. Whitehouse officiated at the marriage ceremony this afternoon at 2 of Eileen Constance, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. O'Dell, Trail, B.C., and Lieut. Bertram Howard Parsons, younger son of Mrs. Florence Parsons, 1959 Hampshire Road, and the late Edward Parsons.

Mrs. T. Milburn played the wedding music on the church organ, and Mrs. John Townsend, cousin of the groom, sang "Oh Perfect Love" during the signing of the register, using a musical arrangement composed by the groom's father, when he was organist at Metropolitan Church. Later, at the reception, Mrs. Townsend sang "Because."

Entering the church on the arm of her cousin, Mr. A. Garcin, the bride wore a deep rose two-piece gabardine suit, with chocolate brown hat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Her sister, Mrs. J. G. McKenzie, was her only attendant, wearing a powder blue two-piece suit, navy accessories and hat and a corsage bouquet of Tullis roses.

J. G. Parsons was his brother's best man, while L. Parsons and K. Parsons, cousins of the groom, acted as ushers.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Garcin, 1959 Beach Drive, where Mrs. H. O'Dell, Mrs. Florence Parsons and Mrs. Garcin assisted the young couple in receiving 40 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons left by car, later in the afternoon, for a honeymoon up-island, the bride wearing a beige top coat over her wedding suit. On their return to the city they will reside at 1959 Hampshire Road.

The bride is a graduate of Vancouver General Hospital and has been attached to the supervisory staff of Infants' Hospital in that city. Lieut. Parsons has just returned from duty overseas with the Canadian Armored Corps.

Rocket Ship Will Cross Atlantic Ocean In 14 Minutes

Traveling at 16,000 miles per hour, the war rocket of the future will reach a height of 500 miles above the earth and will cross the Atlantic in a little less than 14 minutes. Rockets of this type are already in blueprint. Of course, they will have to be steered with automatic devices, for a second's indecision of the human mind would cause the ship to miss its destination by hundreds of miles.

G. Edward Pendray, one of America's foremost authorities on rockets and jet propulsion, has written an article entitled, "Tomorrow the Moon," in this week's edition of Collier's Magazine. This is an article every resident of Victoria should read. Collier's Magazine is now on sale at all magazine dealers and is distributed on Vancouver Island by Lovick's News Agency, Victoria, B.C.

Are you Rested in the morning?

Just do this at bedtime tonight

Do you sleep soundly and wake up refreshed, clear-eyed and buoyant, ready for the day's work? Or are your nights restless and disturbed, your mornings spoiled by fatigue and exhaustion? If you've been waking tired and listless, why not do as thousands today are doing—simply drink a cup of Ovaltine warm at bedtime. For Ovaltine does three things to bring vigorous morning freshness.

(1) Taken warm at bedtime, it relieves that feeling of nervous tension—and helps the body to relax for sleep without drugs. (2) Processed for easy digestion, it supplies light nourishment to prevent restless tossing and turning due to digestive unrest. (3) It supplies a variety and wealth of important food elements to rebuild body and nerve cells, replenish vitality to meet the morning.

Ovaltine furnishes not only essential vitamins, but also a combination of minerals, high-quality proteins and quick energy food elements which authorities agree are necessary for health and top vitality.

So if you sleep poorly—waken tired and listless—why not turn to Ovaltine as an aid to refreshing sleep and clear-eyed, radiant morning freshness. See if you don't begin to wake up each morning brighter, and more buoyant—ready to greet the day with a smile.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man 54 years old, violently in love with a girl of 18. Her mother objects to our marriage on the ground that I am too old for her daughter and could not make her happy. Do you think such a marriage would be happy?
C. D. H.

Answer: Not a chance. The bridge between youth and age is one that few have ever negotiated safely, but it has now become impossible because the girls and boys of today have scrapped practically every custom and tradition of the past, and they have not an idea or a thought in common with the middle-aged.

Consider the question dispassionately, my friend, and ask yourself what bond of congeniality there can be between a man of 54 and a girl of 18. You have seen the show of life and want to settle down, but the doors of the show are just opening for her and she wants to see everything in it. You want to spend your evenings by your own fire-side. She wants to step out and go to gay places of amusement.

What would you talk about if you were married? You know nothing that she knows. You are interested in nothing that she is interested in. You have no memories or experiences in common and you would bore each other to death. Marriage between youth and age is disastrous to both parties, believe me.

Don't Overlook Cereal Crumbs

Did you ever notice in looking through your recipe books how many recipes call for "fine dry crumbs"? In old days, dry crumbs always meant dried bread or crackers—but modern cooks have found that ready-to-eat cereals are one of the easiest and best sources when dry crumbs are needed. There are several things to say for cereal crumbs in addition to their availability and ease of preparation. They are well cooked and flavored and of golden brown color. This flavor and color contributes much to the finished croquette, breaded chop, fried fish or sea food when prepared french fried or oven fried method. Color and flavor also contribute to good crumb pie shells. There are many uses for cereal crumbs either fine or coarse. Coarse crumbs will extend meat loaves and patties and improve flavor and texture. They are excellent as a casserole topping and for crumb toppings on cakes. Coarsely crushed cornflakes can be used in a berry pie to thicken the juice and keep the pie from running over. Use about 1½ cups of cornflakes. Sprinkle crushed cornflakes over bottom crust before adding berries.

Here are some measurements and rules for "crumbing": 4 cups cornflakes yield 1 cup crumbs or 2 cups coarse crumbs; 3 cups all-wheat flakes or oven-popped rice yield 1 cup fine crumbs or 1½ cups coarse crumbs.

To make crumbs measure cereal into fresh tea towel spread out on flat surface. Fold over sides of towel and roll up. Press down firmly; open towel and complete crushing with rolling pin.

Chamber Informed Transit Lines Favor Unified System

Senior officials of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. and Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. told a meeting of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Thursday their companies favored a co-ordinated and unified transportation system for Greater Victoria.

First to speak was E. N. Horsey, general superintendent of the B.C.E.R. Victoria had a mass transportation problem, he said, and needed a transportation system which would carry a considerable number of people.

He traced a brief history of transportation service provided by the B.C.E.R. in the last two decades. In 1925, the vehicular trend was in the transition stage and trolley-coaches were in their infancy, he said. He felt that today, the trolley-coach and the buses driven by the internal combustion engine would all play their part in urban transportation.

FIELD FOR TROLLEY BUSES
The trolley-coach had convinced his company there was a field for it, and, combined with buses driven by the internal combustion engine, would be able to compete with the private automobiles, Mr. Horsey believed.

He felt there was a definite future for mass transportation in Victoria, but said it must have a full area, be co-ordinated, and have full coverage areas demanding a transportation service.

Asked by Maj. H. C. Holmes, president of the chamber, what he meant by a "full area," Mr. Horsey replied that, taking the city hall as a central point, a circle with a three and one-half mile limit would provide a full area, otherwise it would become a suburban or interurban service in which his company was not interested. The Vancouver Island Coach Lines were handling that, he said.

He commended the city's request to transportation firms here for preliminary proposals next Monday regarding a transportation system. After submission, with the experience of interested companies on hand, a comprehensive request for tenders could be drawn up, Mr. Horsey said.

LARGER TYPES
He also mentioned Canadian firms were active in making the larger type of transit vehicle which, he said, would be obtainable at a more reasonable price than that which had been paid for an imported vehicle.

G. C. Parrott, Vancouver Island Coach Lines superintendent, said his company would be interested in a unified transportation scheme.

Speaking for himself, and not for the company, he said, he felt Greater Victoria failed on two counts: First, that it had four governing groups; and second, that it had three transportation systems.

The time had come for a unified transportation system, and he would be pleased to work with any committee toward the common end, he said.

Mr. Parrott said he did not want the chamber to gain the impression his firm was only providing an interurban transportation system. The company had developed Saanich, he said, and added that through the company's depot an average of 15,000 people went daily, with some 450 bus departures and arrivals. About 9,000 of the passengers were urban, he said.

Maj. Holmes said transportation had done a wonderful job here over the last 15 years and that property values had increased greatly, due to the service given by transportation firms.

Province Awards 2 Road Contracts

Contracts for construction and reconstruction of roads in the Fraser Valley have been awarded by the Provincial Works Department, it was announced today.

To the General Construction Co. Ltd., the lowest of seven tenders, went the contract for construction of 1.47 miles of the Dewdney Trunk Road. The contract is for $36,545.50.

Coast Construction Co. Ltd., lowest of five tenderers, has been awarded the contract for reconstruction of 2.16 miles of the Huntingdon-Mission Highway in Chilliwack electoral district. That firm bid to do the job for $40,034.82.

The Story of the Atom

(1) The possibility of an atomic bomb was put before President Roosevelt by Alexander Sachs of New York, who carried a letter from Prof. Albert Einstein. Panzers had rolled into France. The Luftwaffe was threatening Britain's existence. It was feared America could not keep out of the war and was in line for invasion. President Roosevelt sensed the urgency and appointed in strictest secrecy an "Advisory Committee on Uranium."

(2) The enemy, if its scientists were successful, might use atomic fission to destroy civilization.

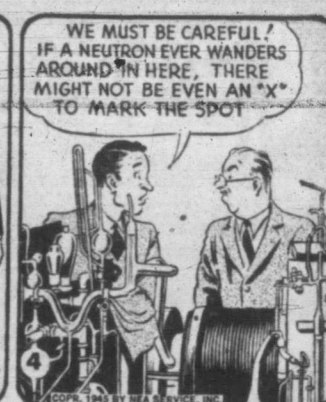

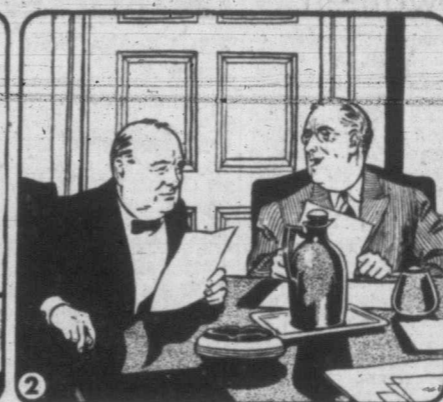

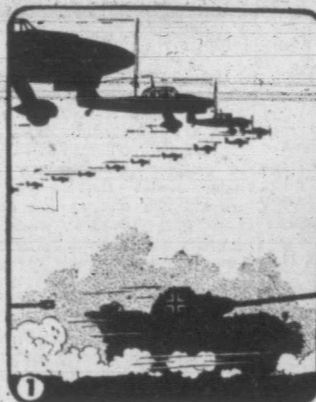

Or in our hands, the same power of the atom might save us from annihilation. President Roosevelt suggested to Prime Minister Churchill that British and American scientists combine in atomic research. Thus, the two groups might win the contest, Churchill agreed.

(3) Scientists of Great Britain, Canada and the United States set busily at work on the grim race with an unknown adversary—the Axis with its laboratories and factories. The work of Britain and America expanded. It became a major war industry. The mysterious "Manhattan Engineer District" was formed in the War Department with top priorities. Top scientists were called in. G-men kept careful watch. Army officers went mysteriously about with satchels chained to their wrists.

(4) Much of the work had to do with the separation and purification of Uranium 235. Could U-235 be accumulated in any appreciable quantities? Suppose a wandering neutron hit it. It might start a chain reaction that would blast the experimenters to their doom. Then they made a highly useful discovery. Bombardment of the more common

D.S.O. Bar Awarded To Brig. Cabeldu

Award of the bar to the D.S.O. to Brig. Frederick N. Cabeldu of Victoria is announced by the Department of National Defence.

The award is one of 68 new decorations for personnel of the Canadian Army who served in Northwest Europe.

Brig. Cabeldu, who now wears the D.S.O. and Bar and E.D., was an investment broker here when he joined the active army as a major Sept. 1, 1939. He went overseas in August, 1941, was confirmed in the rank of lieutenant-colonel in November, 1943, and was promoted to brigadier last March. He was awarded the D.S.O. for gallantry in action during the invasion of France. His wife and two daughters, Rena and Helen, live at 622 Falkland Road.

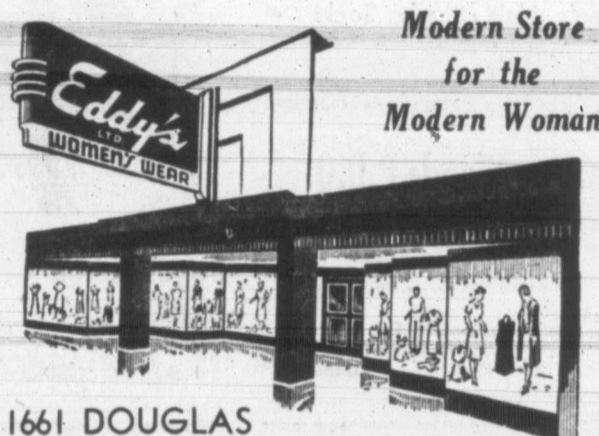

His citation reads:

"Brig. Cabeldu has commanded No. 4 Canadian Infantry Brigade in action in western Europe since Aug. 31, 1944. The brigade has established an enviable reputation and has been most successful in battle due in no slight degree to the able leadership and sound tactical knowledge of its commander. During the period Feb. 19 to March 8, 1945, No. 4 Canadian Infantry Brigade successfully completed some of the most difficult tasks ever assigned to it. On Feb. 19-20, they seized and held, in spite of the desperate efforts of crack German troops, the Louisendorf feature, vital to the success of the divisional assault on the Goch-Calcar Road. Later they cleared the northern half of the Hochwald forest in a brilliantly-executed operation and against enemy who died in great numbers manning their weapons to the last. On March 8, 1945, No. 4 Canadian Infantry Brigade successfully seized the area immediately south of Yanten and there the last fanatical resistance of the enemy defending the Wesel bridgehead was smashed. At all times Brig. Cabeldu exercised complete control, skillfully using supporting arms and quick to exploit any method or opportunity to hit the enemy harder or relieve a hard pressed situation. His frequent visits to his units in the midst of battle were always encouraging and his advice constructive. His enthusiasm was contagious and he has earned the absolute confidence of all ranks in his brigade. As a result of this commander's outstanding leadership, good judgment, personal courage and exceptional resourcefulness, No. 4 Canadian Infantry Brigade is a fighting force ready

D.C.M., M.M. For 2 Island Soldiers

The Distinguished Conduct Medal has been awarded to WO. James Little Nimmo, Westholme, and the Military Medal to Gnr. David George Havard, Victoria, according to an announcement by the National Defence Department.

Nimmo is a native of Ladysmith and was a lumber inspector at Westholme when he enlisted in September, 1939. He went overseas in August, 1941, as a corporal. His father, Erskine Nimmo, lives at Westholme.

The citation says Nimmo consistently performed his duties with outstanding courage and showed excellent leadership in the face of heavy enemy opposition.

Gnr. Havard is the son of George Havard, 2251 Cadboro Bay Road.

"He performed his duties faithfully and with no regard for personal safety or comfort," his citation reads. "The performance of his duties involved long hours of exposure to enemy shell and mortar fire as well as many nights without sleep."

Labor Supports Harbor Brief

Although taking the view that Esquimalt would make the best harbor, Victoria Trades and Labor Council is prepared to support any united attempt of civic and other local organizations to secure immediate action on the betterment of harbor facilities here, George A. Wilkinson, secretary of the labor group, informed the city council by letter today.

In a brief presented by their harbor committee after studying the recommendations of the city harbor committee, the labor group reiterated their desire to see a free port established in this area, pointing out that Victoria is strategically situated for such a port. It would bring in more industry, the brief asserts.

Although they are prepared to support the building of the breakwater, the labor men feel that the most urgent need for the immediate future is adequate wharf accommodation, and suggest that a competent authority be called in to make a thorough survey before any construction is started.

The proposal to dredge the harbor from side to side is endorsed, providing the dredging is carried right to the shoreline. The remainder of the six points are also endorsed by the labor committee.

LOG EXPORTS
They also recommend that some action should be taken to curtail the shipments of raw materials from Canada, where it is possible to ship the manufactured product. This is particularly glaring in regard to timber exports.

Another suggestion made is that the grain elevator, located at Ogden Point, could be profitably operated in conjunction with a flour mill, to manufacture flour for the Far East.

The labor committee asks that the council endorse their request that all shipping companies subsidized by the Dominion government be required to have their ships repaired in Canadian shipyards, be manned by Canadian seamen, and stored and fueled by Canadian supply houses.

Copies of the report have been forwarded to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and the Chamber of Commerce.

The average earnings of 2,080,833 male wage earners in Canada in the census year of 1941, were $988, as compared with $927 for the 1931 census.

Hunters On Saturday Will Start War On Deer, Grouse and Pigeons

Vancouver Island hunters will officially declare war on deer, bear, grouse and pigeons on Saturday and there is every indication it will be one of the liveliest hunting seasons for several years.

As leaves begin to carpet the forest floor and smoke of autumn fires gathers in the air, hunters will be tramping through the woods early Saturday morning eager to draw the heads of their rifles on deer, while a few big game hunters will be seeking out grizzly bear which will be in season from Saturday until June 30, 1946. There is no closed season on black or brown bear in the hunting district west of the Cascade Summits.

Bucks only, one year of age or more, are permitted to be shot on Vancouver Island, including all the islands in the Comox and Nanaimo and The Islands electoral districts from Saturday to Nov. 30. Three deer tags are allowed each hunter this season.

PIGEON BAG 10 A DAY

The pigeon shooting season is open only from Saturday until Sept. 30. The daily bag-limit is 10 and the season bag-limit 50. Blue grouse also come in season on Saturday and may be shot on Vancouver Island until Oct. 31. The bag-limit for grouse is six of all species per day provided not more than three are ruffed or willow grouse. The season bag-limit is 24 of all species.

Ruffed or willow grouse go on the hunting list Oct. 13 and may be shot on Vancouver Island but not Salt Spring Island until Oct. 31.

Not until Oct. 13 will hunters be permitted to bag pheasants on Vancouver Island. From then until Nov. 18 they will be able to shoot only cocks.

Pheasant shooting is not permitted on that portion of Vancouver Island north of Oyster River, and that part of the Alberni electoral district west of the Beaufort Range.

Pheasant shooting is also prohibited in the North Saanich district on Sundays.

Daily bag limit for pheasants is three, and the season bag limit-20, cock birds only.

Under Game Act, regulations hunters are not permitted to shoot pheasants with rifles, or hunt from automobiles.

Shooting of pheasants, Willow or Ruffed grouse and California quail on the first two days of the open season will be permitted only between noon and 6.30 p.m., and on every day during the remainder of the season shall be from sunrise to 6.30 p.m.

Migratory game birds, including ducks, except wood and elder ducks, coots and geese, except black brant and snow geese, come into season Oct. 13 and continue until Jan. 27. Wilson snipe may be shot from Oct. 13 to Dec. 16.

The open seasons declared in the Game Act regulations are automatically canceled by a forest closure order by the B.C. Forest department.

BE CAREFUL

The game department urges hunters to be careful about all species per day provided not more than three are ruffed or willow grouse. The season bag-limit is 24 of all species.

"Don't shoot unless you clearly see and are sure of what you are shooting at," the game department warns. "It may be a doe, a cow or a man."

The department also suggests that all hunters study the Game Act before going hunting, and they refrain from shooting harmless wild life. If hunters need practice they should shoot magpies and crows, and fowl of that sort.

Finally, the department urges hunters to be sportsmen and respect the rights of others, and report violations of the Game Act.

The Victoria Box and Paper girls' fastball team will play two exhibition games Sunday against the Chemainus seniors and Chemainus Co-eds, at Chemainus. Last Sunday the Co-eds visited Victoria and played two games with the Victoria Box, losing the afternoon game, 8 to 2, against the fine pitching of Helen Pettigrew, who was added to the Victoria Box line-up in the absence of their regular chucker.

The evening game proved to be a heavy-hitting affair, Victoria Box having to come from far behind to eventually win, 19 to 15.

Seattle Splits Pair of Games

Coast League standings remained static today after six games last night, highlighted by four low-hit pitching performances in marked contrast to the previous evening's loosely tossed contests.

Portland's first place lead was pared to seven games as the Beavers were shaded 5 to 4 by the San Diego Padres and the second-place Seattle Rainiers split with the Sacramento Solons 1 to 3 and 5 to 4. But with only 11 games left in the season the pace-setters can drop more than half of these and still win the crown despite anything their northwest rivals can do.

San Francisco's Seals made no headway in their battle to displace the Solons in third, dividing a twin bill with the Hollywood Stars 1 to 0 and 9 to 10, both games going into extra innings. Oakland's A's trounced the Los Angeles Angels 13 to 1 in an all-second division engagement.

Leading Wrestlers Show Here Saturday

With the wrestlers making their final appearance at the Royal Victoria Theatre Saturday night until next spring, promoter Jim Downing has lined up an all-star card. First bout is set for 8.30.

Feature bout will see Lew Newman, rugged Victoria heavyweight, tangle with Seelie Samara, giant New York negro. This will be Samara's second appearance here, he having made a big hit in his first bout some weeks ago with Lee Grable. Last Saturday night Newman registered a victory over Jim Wright.

Another bout will see the Angel, famous French heavyweight, enter the ring against Chief Little Wolf, clever Indian grappler, while the third match will bring together Lord Albert Mills and Rube Wright. The latter will be making his first showing here and is reported to be a smart performer.

CANCEL TRAPSHOOT

The trapshoot scheduled at the Victoria Gun Club for Sept. 23 has been canceled owing to the opening of the grouse season.

Scene of City Golf Championship Sunday

With one of the best fields in the history of the tournament, qualifying round of the men's city golf championship will be played over the Victoria Golf Club links Sunday. Many of the city's ranking amateur club swingers are back home after serving with the armed forces. Competition for the title now held by Harold Lineham will be keen. Entry list will close at 6 tonight, following which the draw will be made. Above picture shows the new grass tea at the ninth hole. Situated on the rocks close to the sea the tee is one of the most picturesque in these parts. Inset is Ernie Todd, popular president, who will be on hand Sunday to supervise matters on behalf of the host club.

Senators Win, Fight

Half Game From Top

Frayed nerves are wearing thin in Washington with the challenging Senators swapping locker room punches while the club storms to within half-game of first place.

On the eve of the pay-off five-game series with the front-running but crippled Detroit Tigers, Alex Carrasquel and Marino Pieretti traded blows over a pet bat and manager Ossie Bluege plastered a $100 fine on second baseman Freddy Vaughn who wanted to sock the boss after a rumpus earlier in the week.

Bluege excused the fistfuffs as "one of those things" in the thick of the flag chase as the underdog Senators seek to become the first club in baseball history to jump from last to first in one year. They looked good last night as Walt Masterson tamed Cleveland's Bobby Feller 4 to 0.

The 25-year-old Philadelphia native hadn't appeared in a big league game since he joined the navy in September, 1942. The Nats scored three times in the fourth inning rally capped by rookie Bingo Binks' double.

Detroit dropped a full game off its lead when Jim Tobin blew up in the ninth inning, yielded three hits and two walks and bowed to Philadelphia, 3 to 2.

ESTALELLA STARS

Bobby Estalella, the hero of the A's 16-inning triumph Wednesday, drove home the tying run and scored the winning tally when Tobin missed the corner of the plate on a 3 to 2 pitch to Ed Busch with the bases loaded.

Hard luck Bill Zuber of New York Yanks ran into his seventh goose-egg treatment of the season, bowing to Chicago 7 to 0 in 10 innings. St. Louis regained third place from the Yanks by shading Boston, 2 to 1, for Nelson Potter's seventh straight success.

Pittsburgh made seven hits good for a double decision over Boston, 4 to 3 and 2 to 0, advancing to within two percentage points of the idle Brooklyn Dodgers in third place.

New York dropped its sixth successive game by one run, 3 to 2, to Cincinnati.

WEST PRACTICE

A practice of the Victoria West Football Club will be held at Central Park Sunday morning, starting at 10.30. All of last year's players and others interested are requested to attend.

They'll Do It Every Time

Junior Lacrosse Playoff Tonight

Junior lacrosse will hold forth at the Willows this evening with the Jokers and Murdies meeting in the third game of their best-of-five city final. Murdies lead the series two games to none, and will be out to take the title three straight. Game time is 8.30, and the main attraction will be preceded by an exhibition game between Oakland, newly-crowned city juvenile champions, and Senators, their opponents in the finals. First game is billed for 7.

After moving into a 5 to 1 lead at the end of the third Brentwood held the upper hand as the veteran Rom Knott pitched winning ball.

Oliver cracked a pair of home runs for K.V.'s.

Fishing Round-up

With the object of organizing a city crabbage league a meeting will be held Monday night at 8 in the Eagles Hall, View Street. All organizations and individuals interested are invited to attend.

Cowichan, Brentwood Good

Early morning and evening are best for spring salmon at Cowichan Bay. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hopkins, 362 Sunset Avenue, got four springs averaging 20 pounds in weight with a plug Wednesday morning. The same day, R. Swanson, Lake Cowichan, caught 27, 25 and 22 1/2-lb. springs using a Rosegard plug, and Ian May, Victoria, landed an 18 and a 21-lb. using a Lucky Louie.

While the plug hooked into the leader, a 10-lb. coho wrapped itself in the leader, and the oys pulled it in, gaffing it near the boat. Stan Ball also hooked an 18-lb. while Stewart Henderson pulled in two 8-lbers.

George Robinson, 1220 Broad Street, got two coho and two springs averaging from 6 to 10 pounds off Whitaker's Point, Brentwood, using a Martin plug, and B. Redgrave, 3349 Cook Street, caught three button fish weighing 24 or 25 pounds, while fishing with a plug.

Off Willis Point the coho and grise fishing has been excellent. Stan Williams, Windsor Road, got six coho Wednesday night using a plug, while Miss Betty Lampman, Hampshire Road, caught a 15-lb. coho on a Lucky Louie.

Coho are starting to appear in Sanson Narrows, and good coho and grise fishing is reported off the beacon at Mill Bay.

John Dugard, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Dugard, 558 Cornwall Street, got the thrill of his young life when he hauled in a 10-lb. salmon at Mill Bay.

A few fish are being caught off the breakwater. "Tiny" Richards, 1402 Stanley Avenue, caught three humpbacks Wednesday night using a herring and flasher.

A lot of fish have been caught off Sidney and James Islands on a blue and white tuna fly. Deep Cove is enjoying a fair run of coho and grise.

Gallant Simon Ships Here From Winnipeg

Field for handicaps at the Willows will be greatly strengthened next week by the arrival from Winnipeg of Lou Graziano's Gallant Simon and Harry Heywood's Delayed Action. Officials of the Colwood Park Association announced yesterday these two outstanding thoroughbreds were en route to Victoria from the prairie track.

In addition to Gallant Simon, Graziano will bring Sir Fox and Ascot Jane, while Bill Buchan has also shipped Red Chalk and Chief Lon.

Campaigning at Polo Park Gallant Simon has carried off two handicaps, while Sir Fox has scored a pair of victories and Delayed Action won one and finished second once.

With Gallant Simon and Delayed Action available for the feature races, along with Winnamucca, the much-improved Meadowvale Boy and Royal Memory, Victoria fans should witness some real high class racing in the closing days of the meeting.

Thursday's card at the Willows produced some smart prices with double figures hung on the mutuels board in four of the seven races. Just to provide the fans with added thrills, a photo was required to determine the winning bang-tail on four occasions. Such close finishes are a tribute to the handicapping of presiding steward "Doc" McKeon.

LONGEST WIN PRIZE

It took the maiden two-year-olds to provide the longest win prize of the meeting in the third race when Ladner Maid got down in front to return $47.85 for a win pastebord. After getting bumped on the first turn by Simon's Joe the filly straightened around to take the lead at the half, drop back to second into the stretch and come on again to win in a photo finish with Throwaway. It was jockey Billy Slocum's first winning mount of the meeting. Sister Dolas, the odds on favorite, took third.

Another odds on choice, Eno Heather, had to be content with second money in the fourth when Paper Heels, given the benefit of a powerful ride by Bobby Breckenridge, got up in the final stride to nip the favorite at the wire. The second choice, Camp Ground, closed fast to cop the show portion of the purse.

Public choices ran one, two, three in the featured sixth over a mile and one-sixteenth, with Avondale Star taking command of his field out of the gate and never giving up the number one position. Wild Deer bested Maratimer in a stretch duel for second and third.

After George Holt's Spurious had made his first time out a winning performance in the opening race, the 10-year-old Britannia ran like a good thing to capture the second, and the pair combined for a daily double payoff of $85.15.

Always popular Pandemint showed a lot of speed in the final eighth to nip the pacesetter Brilliant Help and win the fifth over the flat mile.

Run of outsiders continued in the seventh when Gold Lyric, hustled to the front by jockey Orlando Hernandez, was just able to hold off Franklin D. and Peruse in a thrilling drive to the wire. The winner was given the major portion of the purse by a nose, with Franklin D. taking second by the same margin. The one-two payoff was $34.50.

Riding honors for the afternoon were well divided, with Hernandez being the only boy to get down with two winners. Other successful riders were Emil Sporri, Slocum, Breckenridge, Allen and Harvey Duncan.

Philadelphia Athletic's pitcher, Dick Fowler, is seen above telephoning his wife in Toronto, to tell her he pitched a no-hit no-run game against the St. Louis Browns. Fowler, who was released from the Canadian army a few weeks ago gained the hall of fame in the first game he went into the box as the starting hurler.

Pensioners' Tag Day Will Be Saturday

The Canadian Pensioners' Association of the Great West will appeal for assistance Saturday on their annual tag day.

The duties of this association, comprising disabled men of the last war and the war just ended, are to give aid to ex-servicemen and their dependents, taking up with the federal government all legitimate claims. Since formation of the local branch 1,100 cases have been brought to a successful conclusion.

All work is voluntary and is done for ex-servicemen and women of the two wars, whether members or not. The association has no revenue to carry on its work except the tag day donations.

Danger! You may be left off voters list. Register now. ***

Servicemen to Get Leave to Cast Votes

Polls for B.C. servicemen to vote in the Oct. 25 provincial general election will be set up at service camps in every province of Canada, Capt. W. Webster, Legislative sergeant-at-arms who has charge of taking the service vote, said today and if there is no poll at a camp where a B.C. serviceman is stationed he may receive 48 hours leave to go to a service poll.

Lists of where the service polls will be located across Canada are now being compiled and will be published shortly.

If there is no service poll at a station where a B.C. service elector is located, he will have to pay his own traveling expense to the poll, Capt. Webster said.

Provincial government offices and liquor stores and beer parlors will be closed Oct. 25 for the election.

Employers are required by law to allow each worker four hours during voting time free to vote.

Important Message! Hear Harry Webster, C.C.F. candidate, Esquimalt, C.J.V.I., Saturday, Sept. 15, 8 p.m. ***

Cecil Solly Says:

'Careful Storage Important Now'

MORE ventilation is needed immediately after vegetables are put into storage than is needed through the winter months. This is not only because of more uniformly cool weather, but because the vegetables have become adjusted to the atmosphere by closing a large percentage of the pores, cutting down on transpiration. So have the storage room well ventilated and the colder the better. Occasionally sorting of vegetables and fruits in storage to remove the ones that are wholly or partially decayed will cut down on the losses too.

TOMATOES

Copies of my 1945 tomato book which was offered earlier in the year, contains information on how to harvest and store tomatoes for fall and winter use. If you did not obtain this booklet you can still do so by sending me a request on postcard at once.

CUCUMBERS

Like other vine vegetables, cucumbers should be kept picked if you want them to continue producing. They should not be "ranked" on the vines, but cut to avoid any disturbance to the roots. Cukes for pickles should be picked in the early morning while those for use fresh in salads and juice should be brought in during the afternoon.

DILL

For the pickles, dill should be pulled, roots and all, as the seed-heads form. These stalks of dill should be hung upside down in a cool place with good air circulation, out of the direct daylight. They will be ready to use any time.

ONIONS

Onions will be ready soon. All through the maturing season any onions that begin to go to seed or flower, should be bent over (not broken) about three inches from the top. When the tops die down is the sign for harvest. Any stems that have not fallen over by the middle of September should be gently pulled up a little to disturb the roots enough to stop growth. A pre-pulling help for well-ripened onions is to pull the dirt away from the sides of the bulb.

When they are ready to be gathered, thrust a fork under each bulb and "heave" it. Then leave it for about three days, after which they can be pulled clear out of the ground. Leaving the stems for "handles" and further cutting, place the onions over a board or lath panel where they do not touch the ground, but where the air circulation is good and the sun will be on them. If rain threatens bring them inside, of course, but sun-dried onions will keep best by far.

Some gardeners find it most convenient to store onions by bunching a dozen or so together and hanging them by the half-dry tops on hooks. This insured good air circulation, but if this is not practical for you, a mesh sack hung up on a nail in a cool basement or garage will do fine.

PEAS

There are two "tricks" in harvesting peas. When your main crop is ready for the last picking in June-July, cut the vines down to within 2 to 3 inches of the ground. The tops that have been cut off may be taken to a convenient place where you can "pick them sitting down." The vines left in the ground should be fed, saturated with water and "boosted" into a second crop. Often gardeners report this second crop to be larger than the first one. This crop should be bearing about now.

The other similar suggestion is to pull up the whole vine of the fall planting and pick it "comfortably." Besides the advantage of saving work and backaches, pulling the vines gives you material for the compost and prevents the pea maggot and weevil wintering over in your garden. These pests took a high toll of local peas this year, and extra precautions should be taken this fall. When you have picked your fall peas, which should be up about four to six inches now, throw the empty pods and vines on the compost and cover them with a layer of soil. The pea maggot and weevil, laid in the pea blossom, live over-winter only in ripened peas and beans, as when the vines are left in the ground after harvest.

When the vines are put on the compost heap, the heat of the decomposing process kills the weevil and maggot—inside the peas. So for comfort and safe gardening next season, pull your last pea vines and put them in the compost.

BEANS

Never pick beans while the vines are wet with dew, from irrigation or late summer rains. However, pick them as soon as they are dry in the morning. Only in the home garden is it possible to watch the maturity of the crop and pick them when they are still small, tender and juicy. Don't spoil this great advantage over the commercial growers by letting them get too large and "woody."

DRY PEAS AND BEANS

Beans and peas kept for dried use during the winter need a special treatment to protect them from weevils. There are two very simple methods. One way is to spread the beans in the oven and heat them to a temperature of 130 degrees to 145 degrees for one hour. Another may be to tie them loosely in a cloth bag and plunge into a large kettle of boiling water. Swish it around so the hot water heats each bean or pea thoroughly. One minute in the boiling water is the limit! They should then be spread out in the sun to dry or on a covered porch where it is in full daylight.

When they are completely dry and cold, pack them in glass jars or tins that have tight lids. Keep them in a dry cupboard. It is not wise to use these dried beans or peas for spring planting for the treatment cuts down their germination.

Vancouver Butchers Want More News On Reasons for Rations

A formal protest against meat rationing and a demand that the federal government submit more information on the reason for rationing, highlighted a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association in Vancouver Thursday night. C. A. Conrad, acting chairman of the Vancouver Island Retail Meat Dealers' Association, was advised today by telephone.

"If the retailers are satisfied that rationing is necessary, they want the tokens done away with and cooked meat and by-products of the industry taken from the ration list, according to another resolution passed at the meeting," Mr. Conrad said.

In one resolution they sought information from the government on reports that grass-fed cattle are taxing packing plants to capacity, he added. The grass-fed cattle are not wanted for overseas shipment, but could be used on the domestic market, he said. Next move locally will be the holding of a meeting Monday night in Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at which a final decision on what action is to be taken by the Vancouver Island Association will be made, Mr. Conrad said.

"Victoria meat retailers are standing firm on their proposal for a 20 per cent cut in the domestic meat quota as an alternative to rationing," he continued.

"Canada could send more meat overseas if the 20 per cent quota reduction were adopted, and there would be less wastage at home. By rationing, the government proposes to reduce consumption by only 12 per cent."

Town Topics

Y.M.C.A. Phalanx Club will meet at the "Y" tonight at 7.30.

General's Wife Appeals Freezing

Appealing from the freezing order regarding tenants in newly-purchased homes, the wife of a retired general appeared before Judge L. A. Hanna in Rental Court Thursday afternoon. She told Judge Hanna that with her husband and son she was occupying an apartment consisting of a living room, which measured 12 by 18 feet, kitchen, bedroom and alcove. She protested that her husband was forced to work on a shaky card table and her son had to sleep in the alcove. The house which they had purchased was being occupied by a man and wife with two young sons.

In reply, the tenant said he had occupied the premises bought by the general for nearly three years. He said his family had been trying to find suitable accommodation for months and had been unsuccessful.

Under cross-examination, the tenant admitted he was also carrying on business at his home. He told the court he was making bedroom slippers there and that several women in the neighborhood were also working on the slippers in their own homes. He admitted an office would be difficult to secure and that about 100 pairs of slippers were being turned out each month.

Judge Hanna told them they would be informed of the court's decision.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES
RECONVERSION AND INGENUITY

WE are hearing a lot these days about reconversion—and I am one of those who believe that it should be speeded up with all possible celerity.

If we could only put half the driving force behind the reconversion into peacetime production that we did into wartime needs, there would be jobs to spare.

And if industry could show as much ingenuity in reconversion as has already been demonstrated by some housewives, farmers and small dealers, it would be no problem at all.

In Canada, the War Assets Corporation is already beginning to dispose of surplus goods, left over from the war.

PUT TO NOVEL USES
HERE, in Victoria, shoppers are not yet fully surplus-conscious, so to speak.

Although I have seen some of these war goods offered for sale, such as airplane fabric, ammunition boxes and flying helmets.

Down in the United States, however, such war supplies were made in hundreds of thousands to our thousands, the surplus is correspondingly higher.

And the purchasers have shown an amazing ingenuity in finding new and novel uses for such goods.

According to a Kansas City story, farmers are "tops" for putting surplus objects to work down on the farm.

FARMERS ARE "TOPS"
THEY have found that army and navy helmets, once used to protect fighting men from bombs and bullets, make most satisfactory drinking troughs for hogs.

Air raid warning hats, reconverted by turning upside down, make cozy nests for laying hens.

So now, instead of resounding to the hail of shrapnel and bomb splinters, the service helmets echo the sound of sousing sows.

And warden's hats, that once responded to the banshee wail of the siren, now tune into the cacophony of the clucking henfery.

JEES AND JUNK
MANY a Canadian farmer years to get his hands on a jeep to pull his tractor and work his pumps.

For the war has demonstrated their adaptability and those fool-proof qualities which make them ideal for use in the fields.

Then there are all the machine tools and machines constructed solely for wartime production purposes. Many a manufacturer and machine shop is crying out for just such tools.

As to those war materials which seem threatened with "junking," surely they can be diverted to some peacetime channel, rather than being broken up into scrap?

So why not give someone the chance to prove their ingenuity and at the same time prevent wicked waste of something which has cost the taxpayers plenty?

LILY DACHE'S LEAD

WOMEN, too, are working wonders with war's cast-offs. Many a rural housewife has rescued the air warden's hat from the pokers, and is using it as a flower pot.

Medical outfits, no longer needed for the services, are being sold and found readily convertible into sewing kits.

After Lily Dache, the New York milliner-de-luxe, took a discarded Waac hat and trimmed it for life, other milliners outbid themselves to acquire the ex-service cha-peau.

Such things as ammunition belts, canvas bags and similar goods have been turned into sturdy upholstery effects.

BULLETS VS. CORSAGES

INDUSTRIALISTS in the United States have also put some of these wartime products to strange peacetime uses.

For instance, there was the New Orleans florist who bought 10,000 thirty-calibre ammunition packing boxes.

So that when the boy friend says "orchids to you," he may send it, not with a bullet-doux but in a bullet box.

A chain restaurant concern bought up a big surplus of hospital sterilizers—not to sterilize the silverware but to steam the sausages, or rather hot dogs.

The metal ammunition boxes, similar to those offered for sale in Victoria, have been turned into fast-selling camp stoves.

NOT ALWAYS SO EASY

BUT there are some things that can't be reconverted so easily.

Surplus officials—perhaps I should explain that means officials in charge of surplus supplies and not an overdose of officialdom—are suffering from a headache in finding markets for them.

For instance, nobody seems to want to buy 70,000,000 pillboxes and 125,000 laboratory spoons, even in the United States.

And no one has yet been found with sufficient imagination and enterprise to buy the United States' most prolific war plant, the one where production was always geared to the highest point.

FOR SALE—MOUSE PLANT

THAT was the glass brick mousehouse built near New York during the early days of the war.

This air-conditioned rodent ranch has been devoted to the raising of rats and mice for laboratory purposes.

Erected at a cost of $150,000, the project has been producing and selling 15,000 mice weekly, and, as might be expected, claims to be the world's largest mouseerie.

What a pity some philanthropic soul couldn't buy it and turn it into a happy hunting ground for cats who have used up the last of their nine lives!

New York

Fractional Losses, Rails Recover

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven successive stock market sessions without a single stumble, brought a long looked-for technical correction today, although selling never was urgent and few really weak spots developed.

The direction was downward after a moderately active opening. Dealings soon tapered and bids "below the market" propped individual issues. While scattered rails recovered, along with other pivots, near the close, losses of fractions to around two points predominated.

Easiness was the rule among Canadian issues at midday. Dore Mines was off 1/4 and Lake Shore 1/2. Hiram Walker eased 1/2.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
30 Industrials—177.74, off .85
20 rails—57.17, off .10
15 utilities—33.78, off .08
65 stocks—63.90, off .21
Total sales, 1,020,000 shares.
